Held in College Conference Hall, the seminar was chaired by Dr.Limamanen Phom, Asst. Professor in Zoology. Vote of thanks was delivered by Dr.Lal Veda Chandra Kumar, Asso. Professor in Economics and rapporteur was Dr.Aola Supong, Asst. Professor in Chemistry.

Title of the program: Listen Learn and Grow Together Date: 30th August 2023

Objective:

To present and discuss on research papers, promote research oriented academic interest among the faculties.

Description:

The Paper presenters were Ms.Shosinle Nyengthang, Asst. Professor in Mathematics and Dr. Iris Odyuo, Asso. Professor in History.

The first session revolved around the theme "Unveiling New Horizons," which was eloquently discussed by Ms. Shosinle Nyenthang. Through comprehensive methodology and applications, her research showcased the potential of numerical methods in addressing real-world challenges.

In the second session, the spotlight shifted to the intriguing topic of "Poisoning and Witchcraft Among the Nagas," a subject that captured the audience's attention. Dr. Iris Odyuo, an accomplished Associate Professor, delivered an engaging talk, delving into the historical and cultural aspects of these practices among the Nagas. Her presentation provided illuminating insights into cultural beliefs and practices, shedding light on the intricate intersections of traditions and modernity in Naga Society.

The presentation was followed by an interactive session.

Outcome:

The 3rd Interdepartmental seminar help the participants to learn about application of Mathematical equations in understanding problems beyond the text book. Also the faculties present were enlightened on the practices of Poisoning and Witchcrafts in Naga society.
