

REPORT ON

World Water Day 2024

Organized by: Jal Shakti, Sao Chang College

The Jal Shakti Committee observed World Water Day on 22nd March 2024. Held in College Conference Hall, the day was marked by 3 different activities.

Title of the program: World Water Day

Date: 22nd March 2024.

Objectives:

1. To address importance of fresh water on earth and beyond.
2. Advocate sustainable management of water.

Activities:

1. Theme exposition by power point presentation
2. Hands on Water Quality Testing
3. Photo Booth based Pledge taking

Description:

The Coordinator Jal Shakti Committee, presenting on the Theme Water for Peace presented the concept behind the observation of World Water Day 2024, in the college.

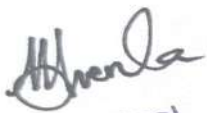

He emphasised on the importance of freshwater and the need to conserve it; the scope of fresh water to create global collaboration and foster peace among nations or the conflict. Based on the theme, he encouraged the participants to reflect on the relationship between water, conflict, and cooperation; called to take a pledge and commit to participate in mission towards water conservation at local level, which will have far reaching global implications.

The presentation was followed by hands on Water Quality testing using testing kits provided by the PHED Tuensang. The program concluded with Pledge taking activity click on photo booth.

Outcome:

Participants could gain knowledge on importance of freshwater water for earth's inhabitants. When water is scarce or polluted, or when people have unequal or no access, tensions can rise between communities and countries. It is possible to participate in a Global mission to conserve fresh water at Local level. Some ways water can be used more efficiently include waste-water recycling, capturing rainwater, more efficient irrigation techniques, and reforestation.

Newspaper coverage

Observation of world water day at SCC.

✓ SCC: The Jal Shakti Committee (JSC), Sao Chang College (SCC) organised activities to mark "World Water Day" with the objective to address the importance of fresh water and advocating sustainable management of water. During the programme, the JSC coordinator, highlighted the significance of the day and emphasised the importance of freshwater and the need to conserve it.

The participants had hands-on experience of water quality testing and monitoring and also took a pledge committing to participate in a mission towards water conservation at the local level.

DGC: The Jal Shakti Team (JST) Dimapur Government College (DGC) organised a walkathon to commemorate "World Water Day". A brief program took place at the tri-junction in Duncan Colony, where assistant professor Lhipe Naro delivered a brief speech and flagged off the walkathon. The water conservation awareness walk culminated on the college campus. In a sensitization session, assistant professor and the convener of JST, Dr. G. Phukato Sema, spoke on the theme and emphasised public responsibility to preserve water.
